HERE IS A GOOD WORK

HOSPITAL FOR DEFORMED AND CRIPPLED CHILDREN.

Is Part of the Hospital for Women and Children at Eleventh and Troost - Donation Party Given Yesterday.

The hospital for women and children at Eleventh street and Treast avenue, looked bright and cheery yesterday, as numbers of visitors came and went. The door was noiselessly opened and people spoke in subdued tones so as not to disturb the patients, for restful quiet is the atmosphere that pervades the hospital. The donations were laid away and the visitors were shown through the wards. Light refreshments were served in the nurses' dining room.

The hospital has been at its present locasince last August. About a year and a half ago it had its beginning in a little building on East Fifteenth street. It was organized by a band of women who believed that a hospital should and could be run upon a paying basis, though at the beginning its prospects for future prosper-ity were very slim indeed. It has made good, however, the hope upon which it was founded. The children's ward on the first floor, which is used for the deformed and crippled, is in part a charity.

The hospital will accommodate thirtyfive patients. There are six nurses who are directed by the superintendent Cannum, a graduate from the Chicago Polyclinic institute. Most of the rooms have been furnished by outside people, and many of them are named for their friends. Dr E. M. Hetherington furnished one, upon the door of which in raised letters is the name of his daughter, "Helen Hibbard." "Faith" is upon the door of the room fur-who lives in Rainsas City, Ras., and whose friends have furnished a room, is written upon another door.

The rooms are spotlessly clean. The linen that covers the operating table is scrupulously white and not a particle of dust is to be seen in the neat little diet kitchen where meals are prepared for the sick and convalescing. One room is fitted up particularly for patients who can afford to pay for good accommodations. The price of this is £20 a week. All over $i$ of this roes to pay for one of the beds in the children's ward, which is not self-supporting.

There are four very pretty white from beds in the children's ward. At the head of one is a placard with the letters "Band of Mercy" written upon it. The other belongs to the King's Daughters. These beds are supposed to be looked after by these two organizations. On behalf of the latter, Miss Alice Dresbach has done a great deal of work.

NEW CARS DELAYED.

Sidetracked at Slater, Mo., and Some at an Unknown Point in Hilinois.

The astrologer must have "read the stars awrong" as to the propitiousness of the winds before the last shipment of new winds before the last shipment of new cars for the Metropolitan company was started from St. Louis. The consignment consisted of eighteen cars, which was due some days ago. Four of these arrived yesterday and telegraphic inquiry to points along the road has located four more side-tracked at Slater, Mo., and four more delayed by a broken axle in a freight train somewhere in Illinois. Four cars are yet to be heard from.

Two sets of the new fender lately devised by Master Mechanic Becker have been built in the shops at Twelfth and Charlotte streets and will be attached to cars and given a trial some time this week, probably to-morrow.

Another Good Ronds Delegate.

The board of trade has appointed an adcitional delegate to the good roads and public improvement convention at St. Louis in the person of H. L. Harmon. The convention is to be held in St. Louis November 21-23, and will be attended by delegates from all the trans-Mississippi states. It is expected to have great effect upon the forthcoming sessions of the stat-legislatures.

During a row he fatally stabbed a young man named John Denlap, who was the sole support of a widowed mother. Crowley belonged to a gang known as "the junior dirty dozen." They had attacked Dunlap in a body, and after knocking down several of them he attempted to get away. Crowley overtook him, and, it is alleged, struck him with a knife. Dunlap died in the police ambulance while it was being driven to headquarters.

Crowley was indicted for murder in the first degree after the killing, and was released on filing a bond for $5,000.

PARADE VERDICT JANUARY 9.

City's Witnesses Value It at From $100,000 to $200,000-Owners' Figures Are $283,000. A verdict in the Parade condemnation proceedings, which have been under prog-ress in Judge Slover's court for three days, will probably be returned January 9. After the arguments had been finished yesterday Judge Slover discharged the jury until that time. The jurors who are to decide what the property is worth are: W. B. Thayer, Gus Jaiser, L. M. Miller, W. W. McIntre, J. H. North and J. W. Merrill.

The Parade consists of twenty-two acres, bounded by Fifteenth street, Woodland avenue and the Pasco. It is owned by J. C. Gates and W. W. Kendall, two well known and wealthy men who live side by side at 1910 and 1920 Independence boulevard. They value their property at $28,810. Witnesses for the city valued it before the jury at sums ranging from $100,000 to $200,000.

The park board argues that the region proposed to be occupied by the Parade will not only make an ideal park, but will at the same time wipe out of existence a lot of ili-looking houses and a half-respectable neighborhood. "Our object in bringing this maintenance tax suit," said Judge F. M. Black, "Is to defeat the maintenance tax. It is unjust and unconstitutional. If they want to go ahead after we have defeated this ordinance and get up another taxing corporations and other interests, besides real property interests alone, they can do it, but were going to stick by this and carry it to the supreme court. There isn't a bit of doubt that we will defeat it."

Five cent collections also would go a long way toward giving these unfortunate children some of the little girls in the children's ward is Stella Samuals. She has been in the hospital nine months. When she first came there she had never used either her arms or her legs, though she was 16 years old. Her feet were drawn up in such a way that it was supposed that she would never be able to walk upon them. Her hands had remained idle because, being a cripple, she had never been required to that condition in which she can walk with the aid of crutches, and thanks to wise treatment, she can sew. Maud Gabbert has just come to the hospital. She walks upon her knees with her limbs and feet turned under.

The children's ward is kept up by means of donations and money raised by entertainments. At the Japanese entertainment, given some time ago, in the Peoper building, $2 was raised. NEW PARK WORK

CONTRACTS ALREADY MADE WILL BE CARRIED OUT.

But No More Contracts Will Be Let Until Next Spring-Plans for Next Year's Work Are Being Made.

A continuation of the present weather means that most of the contracts now under way for park work will be completed this winter, so that next spring will see everything in readiness to begin new work. The work now under way is the finishing of the paving of the Pasco and the grading of Benton boulevard from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-fifth street, together with the curbing, guttering and laying of sidewalks on this boulevard. The paving cannot be one until the curbing and guttering is finished, and the latter work depends on an absence of heavy frosts. Just as soon as the curbing and guttering is in the irst course of the paving will be laid and hen the work will be abandoned until arly in the spring, when it will be com-

The park board is very anxious to see he paving of the Paseo completed this cinter, so that the finishing touches may e put on that park in the spring, and anther breathing spot thrown open to the ubile. the work has been rather slow in completing it and will be notified that he must comply with the terms of his contract or pay the penalty of delay. The trees and shrubbery for this park are in the nurseries and can be transplanted just as soon in the spring as the weather will permit, so that outside of the contract work there is nothing to delay the completion of the Pasce.

A jury has been at work for some days assessing damages and benefits in connection with the Parade, so that work on this public exhibition ground can begin next year without any unneceary delay.

No more contracts are to be let this year, and whatever work is done on the parks, aside from what has already been contracted for, will be done by the workmen employed by the park board. They will be employed in finishing the artificial lake in the Pasce and getting everything in readiness for the sodding, planting of trees and flowers and setting out the shrubbery. As soon as the fountains are completed, the work on which is progressing rapidly, the electrical connection for the colored lights will be made.

Work for the Early Spring. Among the first work that will be begun in the spring will be the impovement of the Plaza and Grove parks. The city now has Plaza and Grove parks. The city now has a title to both these tracts of ground and the park board can begin the work of improving them without fear of delay by reason of suits by park knockers. Work on the North Terrace park will not begin until very late in the season, if not postponed until the following year, as a case is still pending in the supreme court affecting the city's title to the land. Even should a decision be reached this year, it will then be necessary to make a settlement with 100 property owners for the payment of the land, and after the expiration of sixty days it will be necessary to issue park certificates and place them on the market. This will take several weeks, and delay the work until next season is well advanced. certificates and place them on the market. This will take several weeks, and delay the work until next season is well advanced. In case the present suit by the park knockers is taken into the United States supreme court on appeal from the state supreme court, the park board expects to do no actual work on the park before 1900. All the plans for the improvements of the uncompleted parks will be made this winter, in order that there may be no delay from this source when it is possible to begin the work.

CITY OWES SEESTED $3,915. Must Pay This Amount for the Extension of the O. K. Creek Sewer in 1892.

The controversy between the city and Contractor Charles Seested over the extension of O. K. creek sewer was settled by the report of Referee Rush C. Lake by the report of Referee Rush C. Lake in Judge Gates' court yesterday, in which he held that the city still owed the contractor $3,915.

Seested & Son entered into a contract with the city in 1882 to extend O. K. creek sewer from the alley between McGee and Grand avenue south on Grand avenue about 557 feet. The work was to cost about $30,000.

It required more work and material than the contractor expected and he figured the final cost at $43.482. The city paid him $35,336 in 1823, but refused, under the contract, to pay more. Seested sued for the remaining $19,182 with the above result.

LIBBY GLASS WORKERS.

The big "zoo" is here and the animals are working free ads., the people in the vicinity of the armory are helping to push the publicity along and Mr. D. V. Kern, he manager of the Libby Glass Blowers feels a little jealous over the free press notices of the zoo-he says he just can't help it. At Omaha his attraction rivaled the zoo's. At Kansas City his exhibition is not inferior, but does not make the oise or demand legislation for an exist-oce. The Libby people are comfortably stalled at 1107 Walnut and showing the installed at 1107 Walnut and showing the wenders of glass art to good crowds daily without admission fee of any kind. The glass dress is worth coming miles to see. The highly executed designs in glass, representing almost every conceivable object, from a ship to a necktle, astonish the visitors and prove exceedingly entertaining. The engraving on glass by Mr. Kern is a feature that certainly does credit to that gentleman in the field of the highest industrial art.

Delays Park Improvements.

John McIntyre conducts a saloon at Independence and Park avenues in a building located on ground belonging to the park department of the city. His license expires January I. The building belongs to Marcy K. Brown, who receives rent for it. The park board wants McIntyre to move so as to get possession of the ground, and the saloonkeeper refuses to do so until his license expires. Marcy K. Brown refuses to disturb his tenant as long as he pays his rent, and the attorney for the park board is figuring on a legal plan for ousting both building and tenant.
